

Teaching Track- Criminal Justice and Forensic Science, Hamline University

Founded in 1854, Hamline was the first university in Minnesota and among the first coeducational institutions in the nation. Hamline University provides a world-class education for undergraduate and graduate students. Our faculty, staff, and students cultivate an ethic of civic responsibility, social justice, and inclusive leadership and service.

Hamline University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Hamline University does not discriminate on the basis of race; color; religion; creed; sex; sexual orientation; gender identity; gender expression; national origin; marital status; familial status; status with regard to public assistance; membership or activity in a local commission; disability; age; protected veteran status; or any other status protected by applicable law in its education or employment programs or activities. The University will provide reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with disabilities.

The Department of Criminal Justice and Forensic Science at Hamline University invites applications for a teaching track position to begin fall 2020 to teach in its Criminology and Criminal Justice (CCJ) undergraduate program. The candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in criminal justice and criminology--such as Crime and Justice in America and Theories of Criminal Behavior--and intermediate courses in their areas of expertise. A Ph.D. in Criminology, Criminal Justice, or related discipline is required; ABD applicants will also be considered. To learn more about the criminal justice and forensic science department, see <http://www.hamline.edu/cla/criminal-justice-forensic-science/> To learn more about Hamline University, see <http://www.hamline.edu/>

To apply, candidates need to submit a letter of interest; current curriculum vitae; a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, course assignments, course/student evaluations); unofficial transcripts of all graduate work; and contact information for three references. Interested candidates can apply here.

There will be a spot to attach each as you move through the application process. Applications received by January 30th, 2020 will receive full consideration and the position will remain open until filled.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Shelly Schaefer, Department Chair at 651-523-2145 or sschaefer02@hamline.edu.

All questions marked 'Required' need to be answered in order to submit the application. It is important that your application show all of the relevant education and experience you possess. Applications may be rejected if incomplete. If rejected, you must reapply for the position in order to be considered. A resume or curriculum vitae, a cover letter outlining your qualifications for and interest in the position, contact information for 3 current, professional references, as well as copies of transcripts (if required) must be uploaded with each application.
