

The Department of Criminal Justice at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position, beginning in August of 2021. The person hired will teach two undergraduate courses each semester. One of these each semester will be our introductory research methods course (P290: The Nature of Inquiry). The other courses to be taught will be based on the successful candidate's interests and expertise. A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or a related field is required, but ABDs will be considered.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/10429>. A completed application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching, a diversity statement, and three letters of reference. Review of applications will begin March 10, 2021, and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to: Dr. Marla Sandys, Interim Chair, Department of Criminal Justice, msandys@indiana.edu. For more information about the Department, please visit our website: <https://criminaljustice.indiana.edu/>

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.