Course Description: This course provides a general introduction to the study of crime. The main focus of the course revolves around crime measurement, patterns and trends in crime, crime types, criminological theory, and crime and criminality from a global perspective.

Elms
I will be using Elms to post the syllabus, brief lecture outlines, grades, and any relevant communication. Go to http://elms.umd.edu and log in with your Directory ID (logon ID) and password to use this feature.

Students with Disabilities
If you have a documented physical or learning disability, I am willing to make the necessary accommodations. If this is the case, please let me know your needs by September 17th and we can discuss the best way in which to handle your specific situation. If you need test accommodations, I will need the testing form 1 week before each exam in order to get the exam to DSS in a timely manner.

I am unable to accommodate students who are not registered with Disability Support Services or who do not provide me with documentation that has been reviewed by DSS.

Academic Integrity

All students are expected to adhere to the highest standards of academic integrity. Plagiarism, passing other’s work off as your own (e.g., buying or downloading papers or reports), cheating on examinations, submitting fraudulent documents or forged signatures, and so forth will not be tolerated. Students who violate these standards will be reported to the Office of Judicial Programs. Please refer to the Code of Student Conduct in the current edition of the Undergraduate Catalog for additional information.

General Education Requirements

This course can be used to fulfill, in part, the general education “distributive studies” requirements. Students must earn a grade of D- or better in this course if used to fulfill this requirement. Courses used to satisfy general education may not be taken with the pass/fail grading method. To get credit for the course if you are a CCJS major (or plan to be), you must pass with a C- or better.
Inclement Weather Policy

On occasion, classes may be cancelled due to inclement weather. If the University is closed on the day a midterm exam is scheduled or an assignment is due, the exam will be scheduled the next class meeting in which the University is open. Assignments will be due the next day that the University is open (turned into the TA mailboxes in 2220 LeFrak Hall). If a final exam is cancelled, we will follow University rules for rescheduling.

Course Requirements and Expectations

The course is structured around a lecture and discussion format. There are two lectures per week and one discussion section. Discussion sections meet at different times during the week and are led by a teaching assistant. Students are expected to attend lectures and their assigned discussion section (i.e., the one for which they are registered).

The classroom environment should be intellectually stimulating and respectful. Students unable to show civility with one another, the teaching assistants, or me will be subject to being referred to the Office of Student Conduct or to Campus Police. You are expected to adhere to the Code of Student Conduct.

Disrespect and disruptions can also occur through the inappropriate use of technology. Cell phones should be silenced during class and put away. Laptop computers are allowed solely for note-taking. If a student is found to be using personal technology devices in any way that is not specifically related to the day’s class discussion, s/he will be referred to the Department
Director of Undergraduate Programs. A second offense may result in a referral to the Office of Student Conduct for violating course policy on the use of personal computers in the classroom.

Attendance.
Students are expected to attend class, keep up-to-date on reading materials and assignments, and participate in all class activities. Students who miss class due to illness or medical necessity will provide a self-excusal note for the absence upon return to class. This note should explain the reason for the absence and acknowledge that the information provided is accurate. I will accept one self-excusal, but any subsequent absences must be excused by written documentation from a health care provider.

Examinations. There are three examinations scheduled for this course, two midterm examinations and one non-comprehensive final. Each exam will employ a combination of objective (True/False, Multiple Choice) questions. Questions for the exams will be drawn from both required reading and lecture materials. EXAM SCORES WILL NOT BE CURVED.

Quizzes. There will be three randomly given quizzes during the semester. The quizzes will be administered during discussion sections. Although the days the quizzes will be given are unknown, there will be only one quiz given per exam period (i.e., 1 quiz before the first exam, 1 quiz before the second exam, and 1 quiz prior to the final exam). The primary purpose of these quizzes is to assess whether students are keeping up-to-date with weekly reading assignments and if they understand these readings. The quizzes will combine objective and subjective questions, with each quiz worth 10 points. Only the two highest quiz scores will count toward the final grade. You will have the option of using the dropped quiz for extra-credit, but you must inform your TA (in writing) that you want to do so prior to the last meeting day of your discussion section. You may not attend a different discussion section other than your own to take a quiz. There is no make-up policy for quizzes unless you miss at least two or all quizzes due to the circumstances defined above. If this is the case, advanced notice and official documentation is required.

Make-up policy. There are a limited number of circumstances under which major graded scheduled events (i.e., exams) can be made up: (1) serious illness, (2) a death in the immediate family, (3) religious holiday observance, (4) participation in University activities at the request of university authorities, and (5) circumstances beyond the student’s control. Advanced notice is required (i.e., prior to missing a class or an exam). Notify your TA or me, via e-mail or telephone message for all circumstances listed, except in the case of religious observance. Notice of religious observance conflicts must be given no later than the second week of classes (September 8). Official documentation from a health care professional is also required and must be provided no later than the first day of class upon your return if not sooner.

Extra-Credit. The 3rd quiz can be used for extra-credit bonus points (see above) or students can choose to write a critical review of a scholarly article published in a peer reviewed journal or a critical review of a newspaper report on crime or justice from a major news organization (such as Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, NY Times, Boston Globe, Chicago Tribune, LA Times, etc.). The expectations (content) for this extra-credit option will be gone over in your discussion sections. The article/report must be approved by your TA, copied and attached to your critical review. Reviews should be no longer than 2 pages in length (typed and double spaced). If students choose to write a critical review, it is due on the last day that your discussion section meets and should be handed-in at the beginning of class. The extra-credit option is worth a maximum of 10 points.

Discussion Section Activities. During the semester, your TA will lead you in several graded activities. In addition, your class participation during discussion section meetings will be graded on a weekly basis using the following metric (0 = no participation or missed class; 1 = limited participation, 2 = active and informed participant). Grading will begin the 3rd week of classes and end final week of classes.

Final Grades. The midterm exams are worth 100 points each. The final exam is worth 100 points. The exams sum to a total point possibility of 300. Quizzes add another potential 20 points to the total. Other discussion section activities (including participation) will add another 80 points. Extra-credit 10 points maximum (added to your total points)
Exams 300 points
Quizzes 20 points
Participation 26 points
Section activities 54 points
400 Total Points

Final grades will be calculated on a percentage basis. Students receiving 95 percent or greater of 400 points (380+) will receive an “A+”; 90-94.9% will receive an “A”; 88-89.9% will receive an “A-“; 85-87.9% will receive a “B+”; 80-84.9% will receive a “B”; 78-79.9% will receive a “B-”; 78-79.9% will receive a “C+”; 70-74.9% will receive a “C”; 68-69.9% will receive a “C-“; 65-67.9% will receive a “D+”; 60-64.9% will receive a “D”; 58-59.9% will receive a “D-“; Less than 58 percent will receive an “F”.
