Course Description

Slavery was abolished in the United States in 1863. Around the world, similar forms of oppression have been attacked and abolished. However, slavery is still a reality. In this course, we will explore Human Trafficking or modern slavery on an international and domestic level. Human trafficking victims include men, women and children who are subjected to force, fraud or coercion for the purpose of sexual exploitation or forced labor. This course will define and analyze the human trafficking phenomenon through academic research, domestic and international policies and laws, key modern cases and debates, enforcement strategies and abolition movements.

Course Objectives

1. Discuss the trafficking of human beings in its historical, legal, economic, political and social contexts.
2. Identify the scope of the global problem, different forms of human trafficking, regional trends and practices, including trafficking in the United States and the different actors involved at all levels.
3. Discuss the multiple layers of human trafficking in order to understand the relationship between supply and demand.
4. Examine the roles of government, the international community and individual actors in addressing the problem.
5. Compile strategies that have proven effective in different parts of the world.

Course Requirements and Evaluation

This is an upper-level hybrid course. A typical week in this course will involve the student completing the assigned readings, completing a written assignment, and completing an asynchronous discussion (discussion forum). On the fifth and tenth week of the course, students will complete an online, multiple choice quiz. Those readings which are not chapters in your text will be provided by the instructor.

The instructor may provide several OPTIONAL opportunities to support the students through Zoom meetings. The Zoom room information will be provided prior to the date. The purpose of the Zoom meeting is to support students, not “put them on the spot”, and students are encouraged to bring questions and concerns about their understating of the material to these meetings.

Quizzes: There are two online, multiple choice quizzes in this course. They are scheduled in the syllabus. The quizzes will be available on quiz day (Friday of that week) from 12:00pm to 11:59pm. You may complete the quiz any time during the period they are open. You are expected to complete the quizzes independently.

Reading Assignments: Each student is responsible for reading assignments as outlined below as well as other readings posted on the ELMS website. All students should be fully prepared to participate in asynchronous (online) discussions.

Participation in Weekly Discussions: Weekly discussions begin on Monday of each week and all original posts are due by Wednesday evening at 11:59pm of that week; responses are due by Sunday night at 11:59pm of the same week. I expect students to participate in weekly discussions and be responsive to posts by peers. Each student should provide an original post based on materials in the course. Students are encouraged to locate and cite sources and news articles outside of the course on their own. Each student should respond to at least two of their peers' posts in a way which is meaningful, respectful, and expansive of the conversation. “I agree” is not sufficient. For example, if a student cites a news article about trafficking victims being treated at offenders instead of victims, a response might include a discussion of another unique article, or a related article or theory pertinent to the topic. Original posts should cite sources in APA format. Think of your original post to the discussion as a “mini-paper.”

Written Assignments: Students will individually write a review of one of several articles in the course article library. Your review should incorporate material from at least two of the other required readings and/or may include additional scholarly literature or government reports. You are expected to summarize the article and discuss its implications for human trafficking intervention/policy. Students will also conduct guided independent research in certain areas of human trafficking throughout the course. The topics may be a particular population, component of the criminal justice system, policy, etc. All submissions should be 2 or more pages double spaced, APA format. Due dates and specific assignment parameters will be provided in Canvas.

Course Policies

Attendance and Make-Up Policy

Opportunities to make-up missed in-class work will only be given in cases of excused absences and official documentation is required. Exams and assignments are considered to be Major Scheduled Graded Events and therefore the new University medical excuse policy which allows one student signed honor statement attesting to illness does not apply to them. Excused absences are: illness with a doctor's note, death in the immediate family, required school activities and required court appearance. If the doctor will not write you a note, you will need to get a copy of your medical record from them to verify your illness. By law, you are entitled to get a copy of this and it is your responsibility to do so. I must be notified in person or by phone or by e-mail PRIOR to missing an in-class assignment for me to consider giving you a makeup. If you know you will not be online for course work by the date an assignment is due for an excused reason, it is your responsibility to turn in the work PRIOR to the due date.

Grade Disputes

All grades will be posted on ELMS. If you have any concerns or issues regarding a grade and would like to discuss it with me or have it reviewed, please contact me within 48 hours of receiving the grade. I will not discuss grade disputes after this time.

Life happens and sometimes for various reasons material can be challenging. Should you feel overwhelmed or frustrated and are worried that your grades are suffering, please contact me. It is better to tackle the problem at the earliest possible moment and find a solution that will most benefit you.

Classroom Code of Conduct

You are expected to adhere to the Code of Student Conduct.

Absences due to Religious Observances

Students are expected to notify me within the first two weeks of class if they intend to be absent for a class or announced examination due to a religious observance. Reasonable opportunities to make-up any work missed will be provided.

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities are responsible for registering with Disabilities Services (DSS) in order to receive academic accommodations. Students who intend to receive accommodations during the semester, should provide me with a letter from DSS within the first two weeks of class. Further, you need to remind me of accommodation requests at least five business days prior to needing the accommodation.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic Dishonesty of any form will absolutely NOT be tolerated. Academic dishonesty encompasses the traditional behavior such as cheating on exams and assignments, giving false statements, etc., but also includes activities such as possessing and/or reviewing previous semester's exams and computer assignments. Additionally, students will be asked to write the University approved Honor Pledge on each exam and project. The University of Maryland, College Park has a nationally recognized Code of Academic Integrity, administered by the Student Honor Council. This Code sets standards for academic integrity at Maryland for all undergraduate and graduate students. As a student you are responsible for upholding these standards for this course. It is very important for you to be aware of the consequences of cheating, fabrication, facilitation, and plagiarism. For more information on the Code of Academic Integrity or the Student Honor Council, please visit <http://www.studenthonorcouncil.umd.edu/whatis.html>

Course Evaluation

Your feedback about this course is very important to me and therefore we do several forms of evaluations throughout this semester. One important campus-wide evaluation is the online evaluation at the end of the semester. Students can go directly to the website (www.courseevalum.umd.edu) to complete their evaluations.
