PROFESSOR: María B. Vélez (she/her/hers)
Office: 2145 Samuel J. LeFrak Hall

MASKING POLICY:

President Pines provided clear expectations to the University about the wearing of masks for all students. KN95 masks are required in all classroom settings and recommended everywhere. Students not wearing a mask will be given a warning and asked to wear one, or will be asked to leave the classroom immediately. Students who have additional issues with the mask expectation after a first warning will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for failure to comply with a directive of University officials.

COURSE OVERVIEW:

A longstanding finding in the criminological literature is that some neighborhoods have more crime than others. Fortunately, criminologists have spent considerable time thinking about and studying this spatial patterning of crime. We will delve rigorously into this large body of work and focus on four major areas so that by the end of the semester students will have a robust understanding of this patterning of crime. First, we will examine the nature and scope of the spatial breadth of crime. Second, we will draw on theory to conceptually understand why these patterns exist. Third, we will review empirical research that draws on prior theory and we will take stock on what we know and don't know about the connections between community conditions and crime. Fourth, we will explain why crime is so different in two neighborhoods in Washington, DC using crime data from the National Neighborhood Crime Study as well as from the US Census, American Community Survey, Home Mortgage Disclosure Act and RealtyTrac. To ensure that students are actively engaged with the material, we will have “discussion days” most every other Friday. On these days, we will work in small groups and discuss readings, the writing assignment, or handouts.

LEARNING GOALS:

By the end of the course, students will be able to articulate the main explanations of what causes crime within and between communities. Students will understand the impact crime and violence have on neighborhood conditions. Students will understand how crime has changed in major ways in recent decades, and the influence of criminal justice policies on crime, violence, and the people who live in high crime areas. We will end the course by discussing existing and promising new approaches for curbing neighborhood crime.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. Writing Assignment.

Connecting Theory to the Real World Issue of Neighborhood Crime. A primary goal of this course is to understand and explain the uneven pattern of neighborhood crime. In this assignment, students are required to write up theoretically guided explanations to explain some research based findings regarding crime in Washington DC neighborhoods that are provided to you. Further information about this project will be provided in a detailed handout on Friday, February 4th. This assignment is due at the beginning of class on Friday, May 6th.

NOTE: It is your responsibility to make sure that you complete and turn in the assignment. Assignments that are not turned in to me at the beginning of class on their due date will be considered one day late. Late assignments will be penalized 5 percentage points for each 24 hour period that they are late.

2. Exams

There will be three exams; all are closed book. Tests will cover material from lectures, class discussions, videos, and readings. Exam format will include true/false as well as short answer questions. The final exam (exam 3) is partly cumulative.

You are responsible for all assigned readings, even if they are not discussed in class; exams will not be curved.

Make-up policy. See point #3 under classroom business.

Exams are not returned to students; students who wish to review their exam should arrange to meet Dr. Vélez in her office during office hours.

CLASSROOM BUSINESS

1. ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance to class is highly encouraged by Dr. Vélez as it is a key way to do well in the course. Class sessions are designed with activities that connect with your weekly readings, lecture slides and writing assignment.

2. UMD COURSE RELATED POLICIES WEBSITE

It is our shared responsibility to know and abide by the University of Maryland's policies that relate to all courses, which include topics like:

- COVID-19 Protocol
- Academic integrity
- Student and instructor conduct

3. MAKEUP EXAM POLICY/EXCUSED ABSENCES

All students can miss one exam. No documentation is necessary. It is the responsibility of the student to make this exam up; ideally within two weeks of the initially scheduled exam. I will follow UMD's policy on excused absences when determining the eligibility to make up the second exam. If you have a problem on the day of the second exam, email me and inform me of the nature of the situation. All scheduled makeup exams must be taken by the last day of class. You are responsible for scheduling the makeup exams with Dr. Vélez.

4. ELMS

I use ELMS to post materials related to our course such as the syllabus, readings, PPT slides, grades, and handouts. Go to <http://elms.umd.edu> and log in with your Directory ID (logon ID) and password to use this feature. I will send announcements via ELMS. Grades listed on ELMS are raw scores (percentages) and have not been weighted to calculate your final grade. Please do not rely on the Assignments or Total column to determine your final grade. Graduating seniors are graded on the same scale as all other students.

5. USE OF TECHNOLOGY

In this class, students will be allowed to use their personal computers to take class notes. If a student is found to be using personal technology devices in any way that is not related to taking class notes, the student will lose the privilege of using any personal technology device for the duration of the semester. I strongly encourage you to take notes by hand. Research is mounting on the benefits of taking notes by hand than typing them on a computer for effective learning. All cell phones need to be silenced when class begins. NO EXCEPTIONS! If I find you texting, you will get a verbal warning first and then a second warning will be delivered by email. If I have to warn you three times, I can drop you from the class.
