COURSE DESCRIPTION
This is a required course in the Traditional Master’s and Ph. D Program. It is intended to introduce you to contemporary issues in criminal justice, including current and historical concepts of criminal justice, interrelationships among different components of the system, and the role and function of the justice system in society. The course will be divided into four broad areas that include philosophies of punishment, contemporary policing issues, research on courtroom decision making, and modern trends in corrections.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS
Students will be expected to attend class and should be prepared to discuss assigned readings. The course will rely heavily on student participation in addition to class lectures. Students will be expected to gain a deeper understanding of the fundamental issues surrounding police, courts and corrections. The ultimate goal of the course is to provide the student with a solid foundation for understanding contemporary issues in criminal justice, and to encourage them to think critically about the role that the criminal justice system, and its constituent parts, plays in the exercise of social control in society.

COURSE READINGS
Reading requirements for this course include several texts as well as a variety of readings from additional sources. You are responsible for obtaining copies of the texts. Articles will be provided.

Course Texts:
COURSE GRADING

Grades for this course will be determined by class participation in conjunction with two examinations, several short writing assignments, and one take-home final paper. Final grades will be determined according to the following distribution:

<table>

<td>D: 60-70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>F: below 60</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*Pluses and Minuses will be assigned for grades within ± 2 percentage points from grading cutoffs

CLASS DISCUSSION

You will be expected to attend each class having read and critically thought about the required readings. Your discussion grade will result from your ability to intelligently identify, introduce and discuss interesting questions from the readings. This part of your grade is inherently subjective, but I will do my best to fairly assess your effort and participation in the class.

EXAMINATIONS

Two in-class examinations will account for 50% of your final grade. These exams will be written essay exams covering major concepts from class lectures, readings, and discussion. Their purpose is to evaluate your ability to think critically about major concepts surrounding the administration of criminal justice in society. They will cover all of the major concepts covered in class lectures and class readings.

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS

In addition to the examinations, you will also be expected to write several short “research” papers including three assignments based on scholarly research published in one of the following academic journals: Criminology, Criminology and Public Policy, Journal of Quantitative Criminology, or Justice Quarterly. For these assignments, you will select a scholarly article that is relevant to one of the main topics discussed in class, and then write a short (up to 3 pages) paper describing how the research you have chosen adds to and extends current knowledge on police, courts, or corrections. In other words, your job will be to integrate the article of your choice into our current discussion of contemporary criminal justice issues.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

If you have a documented disability, please contact Professor Johnson as soon as possible so that any special arrangements can be made.

ONLINE COURSE MANAGEMENT

Online course resources will be provided through the university course management system available at elms.umd.edu. Students can access weekly reading assignments, the course syllabus, and other relevant class materials through this online system.
